

All Southampton to Turn Out To-day for Fair and Circus

Noted Dancer, Comedians and Hydroplane Added Attractions for Great Event.

Special to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD. SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., July 29.—Southampton's entire day was practically given over to preparation for the great circus and street fair to-morrow for the benefit of the Southampton Hospital. The whole town is to turn out for the event.

Announcement was made to-day that Miss Egan Burrows Fontaine, dancer from the Midnight Frolics and Ed Wynne's Carnival, will come down and do exhibition dancing afternoon and evening, and that Dixon and Doyle also will appear.

The Junior Southampton boys' club, under the direction of Mr. Frederick Reynolds of Harvard, is to aid in the cause by disposing of shares in a new bicycle. Bicycles are quite at a premium down here now, owing to the new fad for them.

Miss Marcella Silcox, Mrs. James T. Terry, Mrs. Joseph Earle Stevens and Mrs. Lounsbury Perry are among those who have taken up this healthful form of exercise.

Mr. Henry Thorne, with two friends aboard his Curtiss seaplane, "The Connecticut Aerial Express," landed in the surf here to-day, when something went wrong with the engine. None of the occupants was injured, but the wings and rudder of the machine were slightly damaged.

Thorne and his friends went from Bridgeport to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Samuel Thorne, who has a summer home here.

The plane was quickly repaired. Mr. Thorne is going to remain during the fair by special request and will take guests up for the benefit of the hospital, charging $10 a trip. This additional feature is about the only thrill the fair lacks in modern attractions, and now at the eleventh hour everything is in readiness for the wonderful day.

Mr. and Mrs. George Casant of Englewood will arrive in Southampton to-morrow and be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mitchell. They are returning home next week.

Mrs. William Lowe Rice entertained a large party at bridge this afternoon.

Miss Eleanor Lawrence arrived last evening to be the guest of Mrs. Charles Steele.

The second day of the horticultural show attracted a large number of persons, both from Southampton and from the nearby resorts.

There was a dance this afternoon, followed by tea, at the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club. Among those present were the Misses Helen Lowe Rice, Jean and Charlotte Peller, Elise and Marjorie Hughes, Emily Davies, Betty Condon, Sarah Larkin, Estelle O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dixon, Jr., Mr. Francis Burrell Hoffman, Mrs. Morgan J. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. P. Francis Murphy, Mrs. Grenville Parker and Mrs. C. W. Ogden.

KEITH AND MOSS THEATRES COMBINE

Former Concern Buys Half Interest in Latter.

One of the biggest vaudeville transactions in recent years was made known yesterday when announcement was made that the B. F. Keith circuit, headed by E. F. Albee, had bought a half interest in the B. F. Moss vaudeville and motion picture circuit. This confirms rumors that have been afloat for several months.

Mr. Moss, in associating himself with the Keith circuit, will have his headquarters in the Palace Theatre Building, where the Keith offices are located. With the eight Moss theatres added to its list, the B. F. Keith Vaudeville Exchange will have charge of the booking of twenty-four houses in this city, including the Proctor theatres.

The houses brought to the Keith circuit are the Hamilton, at 146th street and Broadway; the Jefferson, at Fourteenth street and Third avenue; the Regent, at 116th street and Seventh avenue; the Coliseum, at 151st street and Broadway; the Broadway, at Broadway and Forty-first street; the Dickman, at 187th street and Sherman avenue; the Flatbush, at Church avenue, near Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn, and a new house being built at 161st street and Prospect avenue, The Bronx.
